IN MEMORIAM

ROGER E. CARON, 46, a professor for 14 years in the Marine Engineering department died unexpectedly in March at Tobey Hospital in Wareham of a heart attack.

He was born in Sandwich, Mass. and attended Sandwich schools. In 1963, he graduated from Massachusetts Maritime Academy with a Bachelor of Science degree in Marine and Electrical Engineering. CDR Caron began his career upon graduation as an engineer with Moore-McCormack Lines. In 1970, he joined the Woods Hole, Martha's Vineyard & Nantucket Steam Ship Authority, where he worked until joining the Academy in 1973.

In his years as a professor at the Academy, he achieved nationwide recognition as a top marine engineer. He was also known as an expert in his field and was consulted on marine engineering matters by all of the Maritime Academies, as well as various shipping companies. He was also a major consultant to the U.S. Coast Guard in reorganizing the marine engineering License structure in the United States.

Among his many accomplishments, CDR Caron designed the Rodney C. Morris Diesel Engine Room Simulator, the first of it's kind in the United States. He served as a professional engineering advisor at the New York Maritime Academy, where he participated in the accreditation of their marine engineering program.

His Marine Engineering Study Guides for Third Engineer Through Chief Engineer, first Published in 1978 have become instrumental in prelicensing study.

While at the Academy, CDR Caron received the Distinguished Service Award in 1979, 1980, 1982, and 1983 for many contributions to the Academy Corps of Cadets. He was promoted to full professor in 1981. Under CDR Caron's leadership and direction, Massachusetts Maritime engineering cadets attained the best licensing record in the country for the past ten years.

CDR Caron was a member of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, the U.S. Naval Reserve, the Friends of the Nobska Committee and the Massachusets Maritime Academy Alumni Association. CDR Caron can never be replaced. He was respected by all, friends and cadets, past and present, as well as his peers for his expertise, dedication and inspiration.

We would like to dedicate the 1987 Muster to CDR Roger E. Caron as a thanks for his contributions to this Academy that will never be forgotten.

BAND

The 1986-87 Mass. Maritime Band and Jazz Band was marked by the departure of Band Leader Mr. Frank Fuller. Frank, otherwise known as Hans Fueller, U-Boat Commander and all around old salt, left the academy this February. Mr. Fuller claimed he needed a change of pace as reading the Sunday paper all day every Sunday is not exceptionally good for ones mental stability. All kidding aside, the band wishes Mr. Fuller well and hopes his job as Director of Music at Bridgewater-Raynham is both challenging and rewarding.

The band is now looking to build upon the already strong Jazz Band and rebuild the Marching Band.

HONOR GUARD

PROPELLER CLUB

The Propeller Club made unprecedented accomplishments during the 1986-1987 school year. The greatest show of spirit came with the raising of money for the Statue of Liberty restoration and rededication ceremony held on July 4, 1986. The two year project of fundraising gave the Mass. Maritime Academy Propeller Club the distinction of raising more money for the project than any other school in the Nation.

Club President Scott Corsano along with club officers John Babineau, Tom Trefny, Arthur Lonergan and James McInnis accepted on behalf of the Propeller Club a check for $5,000.00 to be applied towards scholarships for their outstanding work on the Liberty project.

During the busy year the Club sponsored a lecture on the Andrea Doria Stockholm disaster given by speaker John Carrothers. The monthly Port of Boston Propeller Club dinners were also attended by club members on a regular basis.

The Propeller Club has set new goals for the next couple of years, a memorial is being planned for the area just outside the Chapel. The memorial is planned to stand in the memory of all Merchant Mariners past and present. Fund raising has already begun and will continue until enough funding is available to begin building the memorial. This will be a landmark that all people may enjoy, especially Alumni.

SNAME

The Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers (SNAME) is an internationally recognized non-profit, technical, professional Society of individual members serving the maritime and offshore industry and its suppliers. SNAME is dedicated to advancing the art, science and practice of naval architecture, shipbuilding and marine engineering, encouraging the exchange and recording of information, sponsoring applied research, offering career guidance and supporting education, and enhancing the professional status and integrity of its membership.
Activities this year included a trip to New York City to attend the National SNAME exposition of the new and up-and-coming modern advances in the Maritime field. The student section at Mass Maritime Academy also started the Annual North East Student section dinner meeting which included participation by Maine Maritime, Kings Point, M.I.T., and Coast Guard. Speaker for that evening was Captain Robert Bowen, Master of the Research Vessel Knorr, which found the wreck of the Titanic. Overall, the year was very exciting for all involved, and will continue to be so in upcoming years.

VETERANS CLUB

The Veterans Club is a social and service organization for cadets who are Veterans of our Armed Forces. Members include former Sailors, Marines, Soldiers, Airmen, and Coastguardsmen. This dynamic group volunteers time and man power to advance Academy related service projects such as; donations to charities, displaying of the Prisoner of War Flag along with the colors, and the sponsoring of lectures concerning and of interest to Veterans, as well as holding regular social events for its members.

NEWMAN CLUB

AIPE

The American Institute of Plant Engineers (AIPE) cadet chapter was begun under the supervision of Mr. Russo and Capt. Wilson. Its primary function is to expose engineers to various employment opportunities and to make available information pertaining to the engineering field.

The charter officers leave behind a club with purpose and unlimited potential, a legacy for future classes.

BIG BROTHER BIG SISTER

The Big Brother/Big Sister program at Mass Maritime Academy involves approximately twenty-five cadets, who provide a humanitarian service to young kids in the community.

These cadets share a few hours of their week with their little brother/sister. They may see a movie, go out to eat, throw the football around or just do some homework. The Big Brother/Big Sister Association at Mass Maritime Academy is cadets giving the greatest gift of all, Their Time.

SCUBA CLUB

The Scuba Club offers its members full access to gear and air tank fills here at the academy. Every semester, the scuba club offers scuba courses so that cadets can get their certification. This year the Scuba club took part in saving the whales stranded on the outer cape. The 1987 Scuba Club Staff consisted of:

1/C Jim Denoncourt, President
1/C Linda Letourneau, Vice President
2/C John Cummings, Treasurer
2/C Mike Flynn, Secretary

YACHT CLUB

During 1986-87, the Academy Yacht Club acquired a new yacht called Arieto, a 46′ Frers, well known in the racing circuit from Marblehead to Newport. This past summer the Yacht Club Members were employed on several yachts. The Windlass was overhauled and participated in Operation Sail '86 in New York. The Cadet Pride raced in Quincy Bay Race Week and received an award. She also acted as a representative for the Academy by escorting guests around the Boston Area. This Memorial Day weekend the Yacht Club is participating in the Figawi Race from Hyannis to Nantucket. We are entering the Arieto, renamed the Eighty-Six, and the Cadet Pride. We expect to do quite well if not win outright. For 1987-88, the Cadet Pride will be in Boston again and the Eighty-Six will be racing out of Beverly.

BOXING CLUB

The 1986-87 year was a good year for the boxing club. The equipment was used well by a large number of students. The club practically ran itself after the extraordinary efforts of the last two club presidents, John Merrigen and Victor Mendez.

The junior class will inherit a well stocked and maintained club as well due to the fine efforts of the class of 1987 boxing club committee.

"Boxing Nights" on the cruise were again possible due to the level of interest the students displayed.

CLUB HOCKEY

The Academy's Club Hockey Team played a competitive schedule against some old and new foes. Chuck Barbanti was elected Captain and led by his example. The season started with two wins against King's Point, (6-3, 5-3). We hosted the Kings Pointers at the academy and next year's team will benefit with a home series against both King's Point and Fort Schuyler.

Other victories were against Brandeis and 4 C's, with losses to Curry, Nichols and MIT. Home games were played at Gallo Arena and cadet attendance was encouraging. One thing we won't miss are those 6 a.m. practices at Gallo Arena with CDR Mike Joyce, Lt. Nate Nickerson and their on ice drill instructors. Top senior performers were Ken Moran, Sean Thompson, Rob Duseau, Joe Donovan, John Marcille, Tom McHugh and Amby Hayes. In summary, we had a pleasant if abbreviated season with high hopes for next years team.

THE REGIMENT

ORIENTATION 1986

The Class of 1990 showed up expecting two weeks of sun and fun in Cape Cod but in return ended up in what they thought was hell camp on water. This year there was 205 accepted applicants. Also this year was the first year that orientation was held on board the Patriot State. It started out with a lot of screaming and push-ups, but they were taught well and learned from their mistakes. Each company worked hard to push their team to number one. Each day would start out with calisthenics at 0530, then a quick two minute cold shower, be ready for inspection in 15 minutes and form up outside for breakfast. The days followed with picking up clothing issue, marching practice, different classroom lectures, intramural games between companies, firefighting, swimming and much much more. By the end of the two weeks the cadet candidates learned to be squared away, work as a team, live without hair and see what it takes to be a real seaman and more.

RECOGNITION DANCE

The Class of 1990 were the first ones to be recognized at a formal dance and dinner held in Westport, MA. All Regimental staff along with Company Officers, faculty, and staff welcomed the cadet candidates into the Regiment.

HALLOWEEN

As tradition once again prevails on Halloween the fourth class had to dress up in the Halloween costumes when they went down to the Mess Deck for the evening meal. Upon making their grand entrance they would go up on stage and dunk for apples, while the upper class watched and recalled their freshman year Halloween dinner.

FRESHMAN

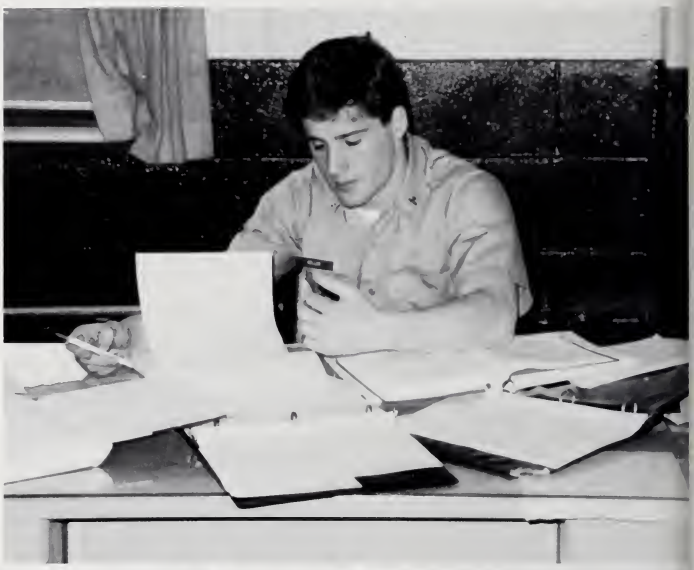
The freshman class had a very tough initial year. Due to the overhaul repairs on the Patriot State, the cruise was first postponed for the spring and later on definitely cancelled out which gave them no freshman cruise and a very relaxing four month summer break. The Class of 1990 was also recognized on November eighth at a dinnerdance held at Westport, MA which allowed them to become an integral part of the Regiment.

BEER CAN

SOPHOMORES

The sophomores showed their strength this year. There was a lot of hard work in class, and a lot to put up with out of class. With the ship gone, there were fewer watches and no maintainance, but some classes were made more difficult with no ship to refer to. Cleaning stations were still never ending, but this time they gave stripes for doing them. Classes got worse, and there always seemed to be more work to do. At the end of second semester, rumors started to fly, then it was learned that they weren't just rumors. The redtag rebellion was started to "Say NO to Cruise". The entire Sophomore class stood together to say that they didn't want to, couldn't wouldn't go on cruise. Reasons were given and for once, the Administration listened and gave in. The non-existant cruise '87 became optional. The redtags stood together and showed that they are a class above the rest.

JUNIORS



The Juniors, a class which stands out by itself, this year continued coming up with different ways to raise money for their Ring Dance. Having class cookouts, organized parties with other colleges and enjoying the privilege of using the Fantail were among a few of the social events participated in by the class. With one year left the Class of 1988 became psyched but were left up in the air like everyone else with the cancelled cruise. The Commercial Shipping Program was cut short for some to allow for the seniors to get their sea time and others with almost no time to plan had to get on a plane and go to Texas and join Texas A&M for their summer cruise. Upon returning to the Academy in mid-August from cruise, next years officers would have to jump right into orientation leaving no break.

OPSAIL '86

Over the Fourth of July 1986, the Massachusetts Maritime Academy participated in the festivities celebrating the one hundred year anniversary of the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor. The PATRIOT STATE was given a berth of honor at pier one in Brooklyn (directly adjacent to the George Washington Bridge) because the Academy, led by Captain Al Wilson and the Propellor Club, raised more money for the restoration work on the statue than any other college, university, or school in the country.

Invitations went out to many of the top people in the Academy's support systems and in the state government, with over one hundred and sixty distinguished congressmen, regents, trustees, alumni, and honored guests in attendance for the cruise from Buzzards Bay to New York. Highlights of the trip included nightly band concerts by the Academy Band, the parade of sail, the visit to the aircraft carrier KENNEDY (Captain Moriarity, MMA, Class of '59, Commanding Officer) and of course the spectacular fireworks display on July 4th.

The "Party Flag" flew during the entire trip and even the cadet galley slaves had a fantastic time.

The Bucs were lead into the '86 season by captains Chris Myers, John Peacock, Ed O'Brien, and Matt Corbett, along with the remaining seventeen seniors.
All our preseason work was displayed in our season opener against Western New England College. The Bucs were lead to a 44-15 trouncing of W.N.E.C. by quarterback Jeff Gorski.
The next week the Bucs travelled to Castine, Maine to fight for the Admiral's Cup. Both teams battled it out, but at the final whistle it was the Bucs 17-9 and the cup went back to B. Bay for the fifth straight year.
The first loss was in game no. 3 against Framingham State College. However, with errorless offense and defense the Bucs fought hard in the second half to come back within three. Time ran out and the Bucs went down 18-21.
Week four meant a trip to Plymouth, N.H. against the Panthers o Plymouth State. We battled to a 0-0 halftime score but fell 0-10 with late second half scores by Plymouth.
In game five, the Bucs played their first Friday Night game against Westfield State College. The Bucs' record fell to 2-3 with a 8-17 loss to the Owls.
We got our minds back on football and the annual Cranberry Bowl. M.M.A. and B.S.C. went after "the scoop" but in the end it was the Bucs who held on, as the game ended 14-14.
Game seven was the first meeting between Mass. Maritime and Worcester State College. The Bucs went to Worcester on their homecoming and came away with a 23-3 victory. We continued to roll as we defeated Nichols College 15-12.
Game nine came on a cold, rainy, Saturday afternoon. Mike Feeney tip-toed his way into the end zone on a nice interception, George Lagos not only blocked the punt but scored in the process, Chris Myers rushed for 140 first-half yards and lets not forget Petro's "I don't have the ball . . . he does" play. The final: Mass. Maritime 33, Fitchburg O.
The season came to a close with Mass. Maritime hosting Curry College. Curry, as the no. 2 team in the league, jumped out to a 0-21 halftime lead. The Bucs regroup during halftime and fought back to take a 22-21 fourth quarter lead. The comeback was made possible by an unyielding defense and some outstanding passing and receiving. However, as the game came to and end the Colonels managed another score and took a 22-27 victory.
We ended the season at 5-4-1, not great but good enough to keep coach's winning season streak alive.

The 1986 fall sailing season started off in a little rough weather, but with the help of our new coach Tommy Tucker and Red Ryan, the season turned out productive. With the help of Tommy, we got all the boats in the water just in time for our first meet. From there, so to speak, was "Smooth Sailing".

With at least two meets every weekend, we were busy from September to the first weekend in November. Practices were held every day — no matter what mother nature had to throw at us. Practices consisted of starts with windward leg and then back to the start again, then at least 3 full races. We took turns sailing in the 420's and tech dinghy's since most of our meets were sailed in both kinds of boats.

I would like to thank everyone for the time they put in. I know it was a hectic schedule, but wait until next year. A special thanks to Tommy Tucker and Red Ryan who gave us alot of their time and support.

With the assistance of the two new volleyball coaches, Fran Fermino and Sue Crosby, the women's volleyball team had an exciting season. Although actual wins were hard to come by, the team improved greatly as their season progressed. Led by Senior Co-Captains Katie Kane and Kelly McGrath, the female Bucs were an enthusiastic and dedicated bunch.

The players and coaches selected awards to be given at the end of the season. Most team spirit went to freshman Fulvia Seales, a very inspirational player with great promise. Alicia Cox received the most improved award for her hard work and unending determination. Katie Kane, the anchor of the team, was undeniably the most dedicated player who expected the most from herself and her follow teammates. The most valuable player award went to a tough competitor, Kelly McGrath.

The team greatly appreciates the time, hard work and support the coaches demonstrated. Their efforts helped to keep the volleyball program alive. May this dedication of both players and coaches continue for years to come to support women's sports here at Mass Maritime Academy.

This years team, composed of a core of dedicated runners, produced outstanding performances from all. They had been plagued with injuries, but still ended up defeating some keyrivals. This years team will say good bye to seniors Kevin Crimi, Edward Kelleher, Linda Letourneau, Robert O'Brien and Kevin Poyant. Next years' squad has a promising future with the returning sophomores and freshman.

Maritime tennis enjoyed its best season in recent memory achieving a 500 record. Coach Steve Waisgerber's radical coaching methods seemed to be taking the team in the right direction. Bolstered by freshmen stand-outs Steve McCauley, Steve "Nikita" Kruska, and Robert "the Junkman " MacGregor, MMA tennis came screaming out of the cellar and into respectability. Losing only captains Doug Dias and Doug Mignosa, and returning #1 player Scott "Conan" Travers MMA tennis looks to make a serious run at the State College Championship.

COASTIES

With a spring cruise schedule planned, Coast Guard Exams were going to be held before the sea requirements were fullfilled. The exam dates were set for April 14, 15, 16 & 17. Semester classes started in January along with other classes. The deckies were working hard preparing while some engineers were taking it easy hoping for a gift from God. A shocker for all was the passing away of Roger Caron one month before the exams. The Class then had to really work and prepare for the final episode which would lead to their License. Not all passed the first time but because of the arrangements made with the cancelled cruise the Coast Guard would return in May. Teachers of both engineering and transportation held seminar, had private tutoring and would help out in any way possible to see the Class of 1987 prevail. Much gratitude is extended to all teachers who helped out, it couldn't have been done without your support.

A week after the Coast Guard Exams the senior class of Mass Maritime Academy headed off to Newport, Rhode Island for a weekend of partying. The Ring Dance was on April 24 at the Rosecliff mansion. The majority of the senior class attended this ceremony which was to celebrate completing four years at the Academy. In the entrance of the mansion the Honor Guard made a bridge of swords which each couple would enter and walk under. Upon continuing they would then enter into the glamor of the main hall where evening meal was held. The evening continued with everyone dancing to the band, New Trends and having a grand time. After leaving the Rosecliff everyone was reflecting on what their cruise would be, graduation, and their weekend in Newport.

In all good books there is a final chapter, in this case it was rewritten. Due to the cancelled cruise Graduation was changed from June 27 to July 18 (making it the Class of 1987 1/2). After spending four challenging years at the Academy it was a joyous occasion for all who were able to attend.

Without a senior cruise and a late graduation the Class of 1987 was never fully reunited after Coast Guard Exams.

The guest speaker on this day was Vice Admiral Paul F. McCarthy Jr. USN M.M.A '54, '75, along with many other distinguished guests in the presidential party. Many awards were presented to the chosen in the graduating class. The Class of 1987 was the first class to graduate with the Academy's new program of offering concentrations in either mechanical engineering or business management. This year there were two valedictorians, James P. Oldach and James McLaughlin.

The Class of 1987 has alot of class and will stride forward in life showing the world the high standards of a M.M.A GRADUATE.

IN MEMORY

In reflecting back upon our years at the Maritime Academy we usually remember the good things and happy times.

In sharp contrast to these thoughts however, is our memory of the loss of two classmates, whose lives were taken from us during our stay at the Academy. These fine youngmen had become like brothers to us all, and remembrance of them will bring a heart felt sadness.

TO THE CLASS OF 1987

Welcome to the ranks of Academy Alumni! Commencement has been called both a beginning - of your career, and an end - of your undergraduate experience. You have been fortunate to have enjoyed and experienced your education here at the Academy and we, too, have benefited from your matriculation. You will now find our alumni remarkably unified and supportive of one another - the by-product of a shared experience in a small and unique institution.

As you travel afar, you will sometimes wonder if MMA has ceased to exist. Small colleges are like that, situated somewhere between memories and location on a map. Look back with fondness and ahead with hope. The best is yet to come.

When I returned to MMA in 1981, I found that I was recaptivated by an institution with a distinctive past of which I had earlier been a part, and one with enormous potential for the future. In one sense, the Academy was well established as the nation's oldest, continuously operating maritime academy dating back to its days as the Massachusetts Nautical School in Boston. In another sense, it was really still young and progressive, a college with great potential to achieve its newly defined goals and traditions. Be proud of your affiliation with the Academy as we are proud of you and your achievements. I am proud to have shared these last four years with you.

For this, the first part of your life there has been a singular, all consuming goal - education. Those times have been so filled with activities there has been little chance to stop and contemplate why you were even in school.

Now you must take a look at the world and decide what to make of your lives. You will all have different solutions to the attainment of your goals. For some the search for self understanding and fulfillment ends with graduation. For others its an ongoing process that becomes a part of their lives. Some may think this ongoing process is unproductive, but for those who choose to make the effort, the spoils are worth the cost of the hunt.

You are well equipped to prosper in this everchanging world. You will find the lessons of life and the bonds of friendship that developed these past four years will serve you well through your lifetime, and the affinity you feel now for both the Academy and your classmates will flourish in the coming decades.

I wish you a love of travel. It's an old idea, but the country you learn most about by traveling abroad is your own - but some old ideas bear repeating.

Go with confidence. Prize tolerance and common sense. And sometime, somewhere along the way, do something meaningful for your country.

On behalf of the faculty and the Academy family, I wish you all success and happiness.

Good sailing and fair winds,

John F. Aylmer

"To laugh often and much; to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children; to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends; to appreciate beauty;
to find the best in others; to leave the world a bit better whether by a healthy child, a garden patch, or a redeemed social condition; to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived.
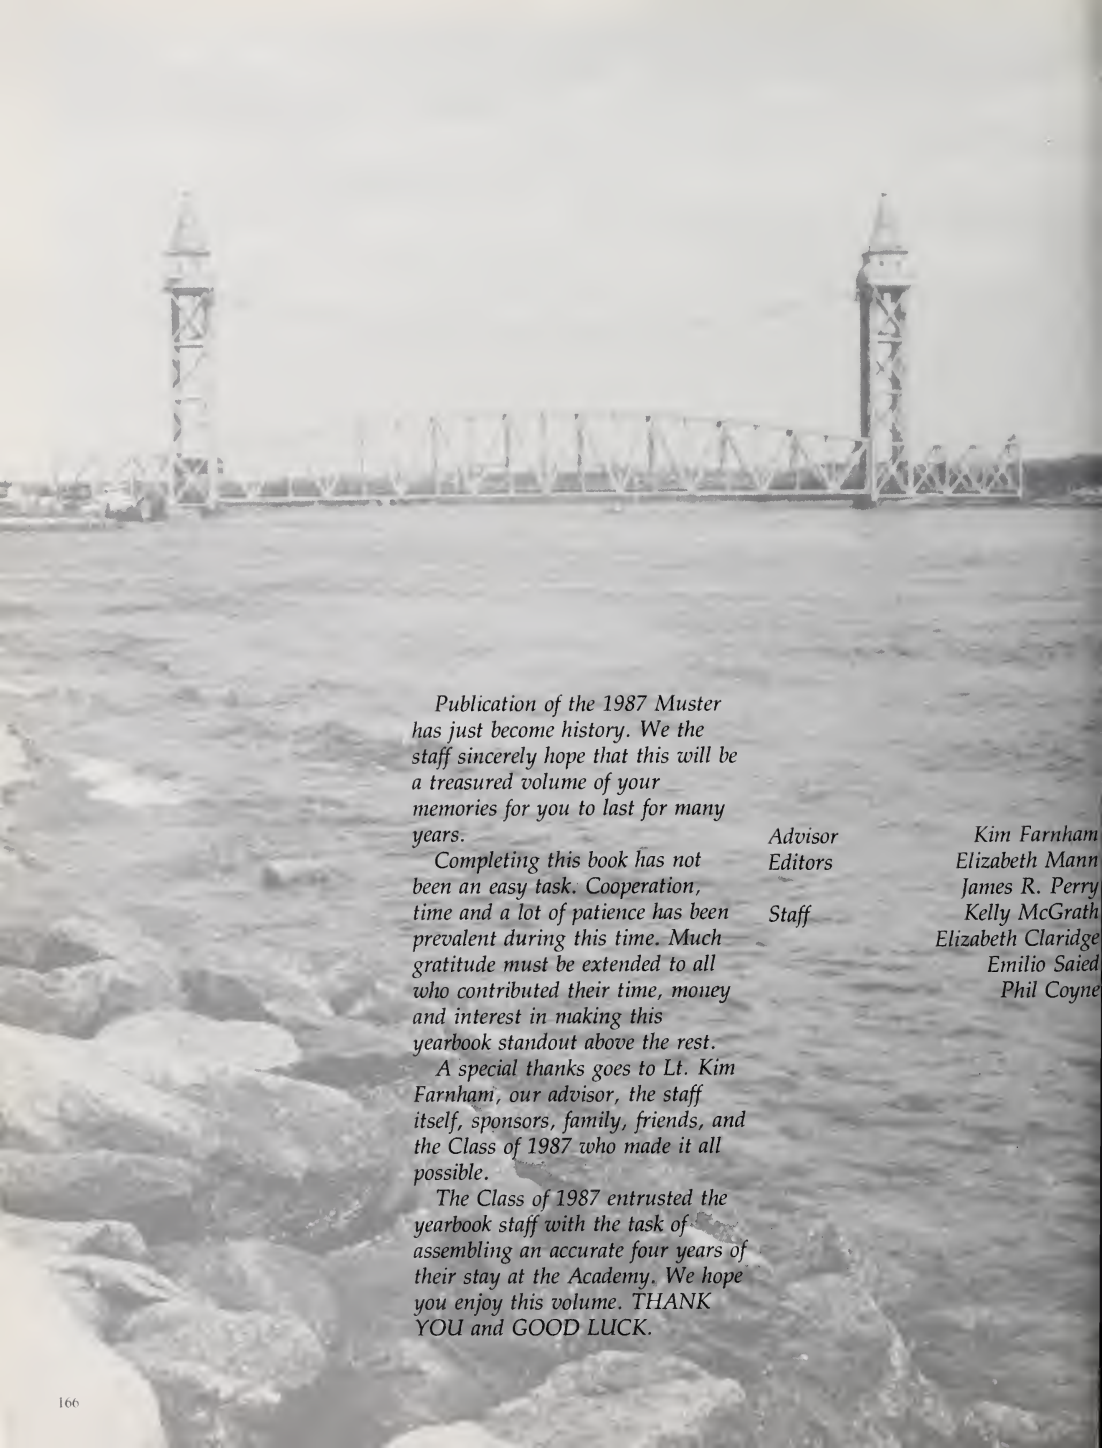
This is to have succeeded."
Ralph Waldo Emerson



Publication of the 1987 Muster has just become history. We the staff sincerely hope that this will be a treasured volume of your memories for you to last for many years.

Completing this book has not been an easy task. Cooperation, time and a lot of patience has been prevalent during this time. Much gratitude must be extended to all who contributed their time, money and interest in making this yearbook standout above the rest.

A special thanks goes to Lt. Kim Farnham, our advisor, the staff itself, sponsors, family, friends, and the Class of 1987 who made it all possible.

The Class of 1987 entrusted the yearbook staff with the task of assembling an accurate four years of their stay at the Academy. We hope you enjoy this volume. THANK YOU and GOOD LUCK.
